

A1 User Manual

Welcome you to use smart HD projectors A1

This manual will help you to quickly familiar with smart HD projectors video content, help you set.

1 That matters

First of all thank you for your use of intelligent projector!

Please read this manual before use and proper use of this product, when you start using this product, We think that you have read this manual, in order to better service, the content of this user manual. Due to the product performance and function change, change, will not do further notice.

If you have any printing or translation errors at the masses of users. If the product's actual settings and make using methods do not agree with this manual, please call the company's customer service support. Please follow the following safety precautions, increase the service life of the machine. In addition to the mentioned in this manual, Please consult relevant qualifications of personnel service. Do not use damaged wires, accessories and other peripheral equipment. Don't use strong on the projector or near solute, such as thinner, benzene chloride or other chemicals.

- Disconnect the ac before cleaning, use clean fiber cotton or soft cloth water dripping wet wipes, reoccupy does cloth to wipe off the residual moisture.
- Do not put in uneven or unreliable work surface, if packing is damaged, please seek maintenance.
- Don't put the projector in your lap or any parts of the body, in order to prevent the heat caused by the ill or injured.
- Do not place or drop the object on the projector, not exposed to the firm or charged area.
- Don't expose in dirty and dusty environment, not in the location of the leaking gas operation.
- Don't in the liquid, or gas exposure or use in the rain, don't use the projector in the lightning storm.

2 The fuselage sketch interface buttons

A1 supports keyboard and mouse, joystick, flying squirrels and plug and play, limited the mouse USB plug or wireless mouse mark receives head inserted into the fuselage sides or rear USB port. So you video projection is a micro Android computer, can realize the function about computer experience.

A1 projector computer-integrated is currently the world's most advanced intelligent HD function mobile projector.

This machine has the following characteristics:

The whole machine size is 220 mmx140mmx70mm

This machine has the rich interface:

- |                               |                                |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1. The TF card slot           | 2. The Reset interface         |
| 3. Optical                    | 4. RJ45 interface              |
| 5. USB interface              | 6. DC power supply interface   |
| 7. LED                        | 8. IR interface                |
| 9. The audio output interface | 10. The AV input interface     |
| 11. VGA input interface       | 12. The interface HDMI inputs. |

3 Six view that

4 Remote control buttons that

(Warm prompt: please bring your own section 2 batteries)

Thank you Note

Thank you very much for your trust and choose our intelligent projector, your choice is our constant motivation and support! We uphold the customer first principles, have been constantly improve product details, efforts to improve the technical performance, and establish humanized after-sales service system, always put the user needs as the starting point of all work. "Details molded perfect" is our service tenet, our product design, research and development, manufacture, testing, acceptance and sales services and strive to perfect, to allow you to gain the most from our product quality using experience and bargain shopping enjoyment! Think about good, modern life to experience and convenient information service of the network age, in order to your satisfaction, we have been trying to!